Dear VCC Community,

This week I asked the question – “What have you learned over the last three years?” The answers were much as one would expect, and yet, to hear them spoken out loud was rather disconcerting. The answers included: how much we are being lied to by our governments, public health and media; how easily people can be manipulated and deceived; how many people will go along with tyranny if it doesn't affect them and their family; and the lack of accountability at all levels.

Most disconcerting was that we don't actually live in a lawful society, or have a Charter of Rights and Freedoms that protects us from government overreach. What has become apparent is that the legal and moral foundation that we thought existed and stood as the basis of our advanced western civilization is an illusion.

The massive erosion of fundamentals was on full display during the US Subcommittee Hearings intended to examine the US government's role in censoring Americans. More than one hundred Democrat leaders actively lobbied to censor the testimony of Robert Kennedy Jr. One would have thought that the topic of 'freedom of speech' would have universal support in a free and liberal society, but apparently no longer.

The shining light in all of this is the clarity, firmness, determination and respectful discourse of Kennedy in responding to those who opposed his right to speak. He didn't engage in counter attack but rather elevated the conversation to a higher level. He said: "Debate, congenial, respectful debate is the fertilizer, it's the water, it's the sunlight for our democracy. We need to be talking to each other."

It appears we need to lose what we value so that we can once again learn why rights and freedoms are important. What is clear is that we've taken our rights and freedoms for granted and now are paying the price of our naivety, comfort and blind faith in the goodness of our institutions and those leading them. These are the growing pains of maturing. While many will be harmed in this journey, I trust that we will become wiser and stronger as a result of the adversity.

Dissolving the Vaccine Illusion Film

Roman Bystrianyk has been highlighting the history of vaccines, and the diseases they are said to prevent, for more than 25 years. In 2013, he co-authored the ground-breaking vaccine risk awareness book, Dissolving Illusions: Disease, Vaccines, and The Forgotten History, with Dr. Suzanne Humphries. Drawing on his background in nutrition, engineering and computer science, he continues to alert the public to the truth about all vaccines through his substack and website. His newest effort is the documentary, Dissolving the Vaccine Illusion, which aired for the first time during The End of COVID event (see Event Section), that opened on July 11th. You can still sign up and stream 100+ hours of content free until August 1st.

Meme of the Week

Quote of the Week

"Our deep-seated fear of deadly infectious disease makes us very susceptible to manipulation by public health officials (often in league with undeclared commercial interests) who invoke emergency power with the purported objective of protecting us. Thus, our fear of infectious disease can be exploited by unscrupulous public officials in the same way our fear of foreign invaders has been used by dictators and tyrants throughout history."
