Dear Mr. Allison,

I am writing to you in my capacity as President of Vaccine Choice Canada. Vaccine Choice Canada was established in 1982 and has been advocating for informed consent, medical choice, and the right and responsibility of parents to make medical decisions for their children for more than 44 years. We are Canada's longest serving and most respected citizen-led vaccine risk awareness organization.

As you and your colleagues are preparing to listen to the testimony, I would ask that you consider the following themes which will undoubtedly emerge and extend beyond the COVID-19 vaccine:

- Health practitioners have a legal and ethical obligation to obtain informed consent for all medical treatments, including vaccination. For consent to be deemed voluntary, it must be given in the absence of undue pressure, coercion, deception, or manipulation. The decision-maker must clearly understand the benefits and risks of the procedure, as well as any alternatives before proceeding.
- Informed consent is not possible with vaccination because the information needed to make an informed decision is either withheld or does not exist. This gap is not accidental. What most doctors offer parents is an overestimation of the benefits and a minimization of the risks. This institutional bias is always erring in one direction.
- The information provided to Canadians by our governments, public health agencies, and mainstream media is a mixture of deception, wishful thinking, coercion, propaganda, personal opinion, and extortion. Vaccine promoters do not provide honest, balanced information that is needed for informed consent or informed refusal. Rather they rely on ignorance and fear. Parents and individuals who ask questions and exercise their right to medical choice are labeled as "foolish, selfish, and dangerous."

- Coercive and deceptive tactics are used to increase vaccine uptake. Many Canadians have shared with us that they did not want to be vaccinated or have their children vaccinated, however they felt they had no choice - no jab, no job! No jab, no education. No jab, no community engagement.
- Anyone administering vaccines has a personal, non-delegable obligation to obtain valid voluntary informed consent before administering any injection. This duty does not disappear under government mandates, child-protection laws, public-health orders, or political pressure. The reality, however, is that no law enforcement or health regulator in Canada is holding those who commit coercive vaccination practices to account. The medical profession fails to uphold their own declared standards of ethical care.
- Absent from standard medical school curriculum is up-to-date information about vaccine ingredients, vaccinated vs unvaccinated safety and efficacy trials, vaccine adverse events, and individual susceptibility to vaccine injury. Doctors receive no formal training on how to diagnose or treat vaccine injury. Instead, doctors are trained to attribute vaccine reactions to coincidence, prior illness, or parental error.
- Medical education regarding vaccination is limited to the vaccine schedule, how to inject multiple vaccines at the same time, and how to address vaccine hesitancy. This training ignores or suppresses other illness prevention options and presents vaccination as the only acceptable strategy.
- The medical community, politicians, and government-controlled media refuse to acknowledge that the decline in health and increase in chronic disease we are witnessing today is related to the COVID-19 and other vaccines.
- The mandating of vaccination as continues to be imposed on children by various governments to receive a public education or access to childcare (Ontario and New Brunswick), and on the general population during COVID, is a violation of the fundamentals of individual rights and ethical medicine. There is no ethically valid consent where refusal carries penalties. Vaccine mandates are government sanctioned medical assault.
- The offering of an exemption from a statutory requirement to vaccinate is a perversion of law and medical ethics. Free people do not have to ask permission to be exempt from any medical or any other interference with one's body or one's life. Informed consent involves the formal opting in of a medical treatment and should never require opting out.
- Our courts of law and human rights tribunals routinely defer to health authorities without requiring these same authorities provide verifiable evidence to substantiate their claims of vaccine safety, efficacy, or necessity, and be subjected to cross-examination under oath. Courts accept public health decisions regarding vaccination based on narrative and ideology rather than robust science and verifiable evidence.

- Basic human rights such as bodily sovereignty and medical choice are routinely violated without consequence if the offence is coerced vaccination. Those who violate informed consent and cause vaccine injury are not held to account. Our courts, institutions, and oversight bodies have failed to provide satisfactory accountability.
- Honest scientists and ethical health professionals who raised questions about vaccine safety, efficacy and necessity were and are marginalized, censored, shamed, and even stripped of their license to practice medicine.
- The evidence is clear and compelling that health authorities, including Health Canada, knew in 2020 that Canadians would be injured with the use of mRNA technology vaccines and chose to ignore the evidence and instead repeated the mantra of “safe and effective”.
- There has been a concerted effort by public health authorities to down-play vaccine injury so as not to create vaccine hesitancy. Clearly, protecting the ideology of vaccination is more important than protecting the health of Canadians.
- Informed consent depends on genuine, honest, and open communication between physicians and patients. Physicians must be free to discuss benefits, risks, uncertainties, alternatives, and differing interpretations of the medical evidence without fearing professional discipline simply because their opinions differ from government policy.
- Vaccines trigger a wide range of physical, neurological, and immunological injuries which, in many cases, do not become apparent until weeks, months or even years later. This isn’t speculation - there is well documented evidence of vaccine-caused harm. Vaccinated vs unvaccinated studies consistently confirm that those exposed to vaccination have higher rates of chronic illness and death compared with those not exposed to vaccination. This information is actively withheld from the public.
- Vaccine manufacturers are not required to prove that their products reduce the rate of disease contraction, contagion, complications, or mortality. Instead, vaccines are licensed based on substitute measures – typically their ability to generate antibodies as measured by blood tests, rather than actual clinical effectiveness. Antibody production is not a reliable indicator of real-world immunity.
- As the parent of a vaccine injured child I’m told I should accept my son’s injury as serving the “greater good”. The reality is that mass vaccination programs and the resultant millions of injuries, disabilities, chronic diseases and deaths does not serve the public good. The “greater good” argument means the end of individualized medicine, informed consent, bodily autonomy, and accountability when injuries and deaths occur.

Vaccine Choice Canada was born out of the experiences of parents and caregivers with respect to the vaccine injury of a child. Parents were told the vaccines were necessary and required for school. The injuries range from mild, to severe, up to and including death. You can learn more about our work at <https://vaccinechoicecanada.com/about/>

Vaccine Choice Canada would welcome a discussion with you and your team with respect to the work of Vaccine Choice Canada and how it relates to your Inquiry.

I look forward to the testimony and the subsequent Inquiry Record, as well as your additional efforts to affect change to ensure those who have been injured by vaccines receive appropriate medical and financial help. I also look forward to your efforts to prevent vaccine injury from occurring by instituting a more robust vaccine approval process and honouring the right to informed consent and bodily sovereignty.

Sincerely,
